Hijacker Collects $200,000, Disappears From Jet in Air

RENO. Nev., Nov. 25 (UPI).— A courteous middle-aged man disappeared, apparently by parachute, with a $200,000 ransom last night while a jetliner he hijacked was flying here from Seattle. PBI agent Harold Campbell said that two of the four para-chntes the hijacker had been was actually explosive. The man told Capt. Scott that everyone would be killed if his demands were not met. The passengers described the man as "very relaxed" before the hijacking, which went off so smoothly that most of the passengers did not know whot had happened until the plane landed at Seattle. The hijacker reportedly chatted amiably with a stewardess before handing her a note saying he was taking over the plane.

After leaving Seattle, with four crew members in the cockpit, the hijacker reportedly stayed in the back of the plane, with the stairwell open, while the plane flew at 10,000 feet on the way to Reno. The Air Force sent aloft a jet fighter, a jet trainer, and a cargo plane with parachntists aboard to trail the siriliner as it flew south. An Air Force spokesman said the pursuing planes may not

Pakistani Says War Not Certain

General Reports Situation Quieter

By Lee Lescaze DACCA, East Pakistan, Nov. 25

(WP).-On Monday, Pakistan's military leaders thought India ond Pakistan were going to war, but the Indian invasion near Jescore turned out to be less cerious than the officers thought and a major general said today that he believed war may still be avoided. "That day it looked like war."

Maj. Gen. Roo Farman Ali Khan said in an unterview, "But there must have been international pressure of great magnitude, The situation is quieter now." There is still wide pread concern here that if war does not break out as a result of Jestore action, it can still be started by Indian operations neross the border.

In Rawalpindl, for example, President Aglia Mohammed Yahya Khan said today that Indian aggression in East Pakistan was leading the two countries to the "point of no return." He said Pakistan wanted to avoid wor but added: "I would like to make it obsolutely clear we sholl defend our houor and territorial integrity with all the forces at our command." U.S. Employees Staying

In Dacca, the U.S. Consulate distributed a letter to Americans today recommending that they leave East Pakistan if their business does not demand their presence. U.S. government employces are staying.

Discussing the crisis, Gen. Far-man said: "I think Iodia's strategy is still limited. They aim at capturing some territory turning it over to the Bangla Desh people." He said the Pakistani counterattacks had been successful in part because Indian troops had withdrawn quickly from forward positions and Pakistani troops found themseives fighting the Bengali guerrillas, the Mukti Bebini.

"It is just a massacre of Mukti Bahini," Gen. Farman said. He added that Indian troops and the guerrillas still held several thousand yards of East Pakistan territory in the Jessore district and fighting would continue there. "We will rebuff every invasion," he said.

Gen. Farman said that four other pockets at the border were also held by guerrillas and Indians-three in Dinapur to the northwest and one in Sylhet near Lattu in the northeast. Dinajpur pockets have been held for some months and the terthere makes it unlikely that they will be retaken by Pakistan as long as India's artillery and army remain at the

It appears from a visit to the battleficid and this town that they had a limited objective, trying to probe Pakistan's defenses rather than open a sustained drive. ### Britain Defends Terms of Accord With Rhodesians

Labor Assails Settlement As a Sellout

By Jnhn M. Lee LONDON, Nov. 25 (NYT).-The British government defended the terms of its agreement with Rhodesia today as "fair and honorable" and the only realistle alternative to outright cpartheid. Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the Foreign Secretary, who returned from the Salisbury negotiations just after 5 a.m., outlined the complex proposals to a crowded and attentive House of Commons this afternoon.

"They provide," he asserted, "an opportunity to set a new course in Phodesia, which can lead to the greater harmony of all races there and to the partnership and prosperity of all

Although Conservative back-benchers cheered these remarks, Labor members, led by Denis Healey, the opposition critic on foreign affairs, hurled charges of shame, selfout and appearement, Outside the Commons, there were statements of protest.

The Young Liberals organization accused Sir Alec of attempting "to whitewash a sordid sellout to racialism."

Mr. Healey charged that the proposed settlement made no provisions for a firm time scale for progress to black-majority rule, for outside guarantees against broken promises, genusually free political activity while African opinion was being assessed, and outright repeal of the controversial Land Tenure Act, which divides the land equally between 250,000 Rhodesian whites and live million blocks. Sir Alec, while unable to satisfy Mr. Healey on these points, was credited by most observers with a strong presentation of terms many found better than expected. He had the sympathy of the House when Mr. Healey tounted him with charges of guilibility at Munich in 1938 and

million West German workers were on strike tonight or locked out of their factories, and hundreds of thousands more faced imminent dismissal as a wage dispute in the automobile industry spread to other parts of the country.

On Monday and Tuesday the metal workers' union, IG Metall, struck Audi and Daimler-Benz plants and 75 smaller firms in the southwestern industrial belt of Germany, putting 120,000 workers on the street.

The employers conceded that their action hit union and nonunion workers alike. But they did not want to leave the initiative to IG Metall to strike wherever and whenever it wanted, wearing the manufacturers down separately.

4.5 Percent Rejected The employers offered a 4.5 percent wage increase in negotiation, but the union rejected it.

A state mediation commission proposed a 7.5 percent increase for a cooling-off period of seven months. The union accepted this plan, but the employers rejected it. The union then reverted to its old demand of 11 percent. The lockout, which hit 540 plants directly, and kept 380,000 workers away from their jobs, was set to begin officially at midnight tonight But these plants are all working only one or two shifts. Most of the workers were through by 5 p.m. The last of them put down their tools at 11 p.m. and the lockout was complete. Widespread Effects The effect of the shutdowns in these northern stretches of Baden and Wuerttemberg was being felt in many parts of the country, so intertwined is the production.

For instance, production was shut down yesterday in the Daimler-Benz truck assembly plant in Woerth because it could not get axles from a Mannheim plant that was struck Monday. Daimler-Benz began sending notices today to about 4,000 suppliers saying that their products cannot be taken for a while. Daimler uses 25,000 supplying

Israel Skeptical, But Favors Peace Mission From OAU

By Peter Grose Jarring withdrew from the scene,

JERUSALEM, Nov. 25 (NYT). -A discreet mediation mission of African leaders ended its visits to Israel and Egypt today, and Nations a new opportunity to reactivate its long-dormant peacemaking effort headed by Swedish envoy Gunnar V. Jarring.

Israeli officials said they welcomed the possibility of a new technical initiative to restart the diplomatic machinery, although they reserved judgment about whether there was any reason to expect substantive progress in breaking the long deadlock.

"It's certainly worth making the effort," said one ranking Israeli diplomat, "since this is the only one of all the diplomatic ventures that hasn't already collapsed—it's the only thing going, so we want to give it a chance."

The presidents of Senegal and Nigeria, Leopold Senghor and Maj. Gen. Yakabu Gowon, left this afternoon for Dakar to prepare the Organization African Unity's final report on Arab-Israeli peace prospects, which is expected to be submitted to Secretary-General U Thant

The two African leaders, accompanied by the foreign ministers of Cameroun and Zaire, (formerly Congo-Kinshasa) submitted a page of concise suggestions and questions about future peace talks to Israeli Premier Golda Meir, just as they had done two days ago to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. In a three-hour meeting this morning, Mrs. Meir and Foreign Minister Abba Eban promised the visiting delegation that a formal reply would be dispatched to the OAU as soon as the full cabinet had approved it, probably at the meeting scheduled Sunday.

From both Israeli and African sources it appears that the African presidents' initiative does not delve deeply into the substance of the differences between Israel and Egypt that seem to have foiled every other peace effort

Technical Proposals

Rather, it attempts to make purely technical proposals for a ption of indirect negotiations under the auspices of Mr. Jarring, Sweden's Ambassador to Moscow, who was named by Mr. Thank four years ago to try to get the Arabs and Israelis together. Mr. Jarring has been inactive now for nine months, ever since he tried pressing Israel into making the commitment demanded by Egypt for a complete withdrawal to the old frontiers that existed before the six-day war of 1967. Israel refused to make any such commitment, though Mrs. Metr is on record as promising a par-tial withdrawal to new boundaries that the two sides would agree upon in negotiation. The Israeli government has repeatedly specified that these new boundaries would not be the same as the prewar armistice

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (NYT). of Premier Golda Meir for talks -Senior Pentagon officials have disclosed that the administration was considering providing Israel n Phantom fighter-bombers if future Soviet shipments of modweapons should threaten to tip the balance of power in the Mideast in favor of Egypt.

The Lance, some officials point out, may be unusually well suited to deterring Egypt from resuming hostilities across the canal without adding appreciably to Israel's capability to do damage deep inside Egypt.

They note that the Lance, now undergoing advanced testing within the United States, has a range of 50 to 70 miles and would be ideal for knocking out surface-to-air missile (SAM) sites along the west bank of the Suez Canal. If Cairo were to consider either resuming artillery barrages across the canal or attempting a large-scale invasion, it would rely on the SAMs to protect either move against heavy Israeli air attack. Request Rejected

A few months ago, sources said, the administration turned down Israel's request for the Lance missile. But within recent days, they add, Defense Secretary Mel-vin R. Laird has directed his staff to take another careful look at the weapons system and its avail-ability, ahould a decision be made to supply it to Israel.

India and the guerrillas already control a thin strip of Pakistan perhans 100 yards wide at the border near Chandrapur. #### Nixon, Heath Confer by Phone

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif., Nov. 25 (Reuters).—President Nixon telephoned British Prime Minister Edward Heath today to discuss the military confrontation between India and Pakistan, the agreement between Britain and Rhodesia and his coming visit to China and the Soviet Union. White House press secretary Ron Ziegler said the two leaders talked for about 30 minutes, spending much of the time on a review of the border fighting between India and Pakistan.

mented quickly were critical of the terms because of the distant promise of political power, Cae nationalist former detainee, Josiah Chinamano, called the agreement "a complete sellout" by Britain. Possible Obstacles

On the other hand, several African leaders said they would try to work with the new constitution to secure its advantages and hold the white government to its terms. They rejected any political boycott. Before the terms take effect, the British government will have to be satisfied that they are acceptable to the Rhodesian people That test will be carried out by a British-appointed commis-sion. It will be able to talk with anyone here, including suspected terrorists held in detention, and all witnesses will have immunity for their evidence. Other possible obstacles to carrying out the settlement are an upset in the British Parliament, a remote possibility, and diplomatic pressure on Britain from the United Nations. If these difficulties are overcome, Rhodesia's Parliament will make the necessary changes in its constitution some time next winter. At the same time Britain will legally make Rhodesia an independent republic and drop sanctions. Constitutional Changes

The settlement terms, if implemented, will affect Rhodesian life in four broad categories -politics. discrimination, constitution and economics. At present, the 250,000 whites have 50 members of Parliament. The five million Africans have eight elected members and eight chosen by tribal councils.

The constitution adopted in 1969 by the white rebels allowed. the Africans more seats only as they pay more than 24 percent of the income tax—they now pay less than 1 percent. They are forever barred from obtain-ing more than an equal number of seats.

The new constitution would abolish the income tax formula entirely. It would create a new higher roll" of African voters required to meet the same financial qualifications as whites to vote: income of $2,700 a year or property worth $5,400, or, if they were secondary school graduates, $1,800 in income or $3,600 in prop-

When that new roll of African voters had 6 percent of the number of Europeans registered—now 88,000—two new Airlean seats would be created in addition to the present 16, and so on for each additional 6 percent, until there were as many higher African as white voters.

New Seats

be filled alternatively by two elected and two tribal members. At the end of the process there would be 34 new seats, 18 elected and 16 tribal, on top of the present eight African seats in each category. At that point the African voters would have the right to abolish the tribal seats and elect all their members.

There would then be 50 African and 50 white members, and it is here that the new constitution would open the possibility of ma-It calls for 10 more seats to be filled by all white and higher African voters, voting together. But this would take place only if an independent commission found the idea "acceptable to the people of Rhodesia" and Parliament approved by twothirds vote.

In any case, even parity in Parliament for the Africans would lie many years shead. So few Africans meet the income qualifications for the higher roll that experts believe it would produce only two or four more seats at present. The Rhodesian government declared its "firm intention to make progress toward ending racial discrimination." At present Rhodesia does not have South African spartheld—there are multiracial institutions. But Africans are excluded from many better jobe and much of the land. A commission appointed in agreement with Britain will survey existing discrimination. Its findings "will carry special an-thority," the white paper said, and would be carried out subject only to considerations "that any government" would consider overriding."

As for future discriminatory legislation, the settlement terms add a bill of rights to the constitution to prevent that. It protects life, liberty, privacy, conscience and association. And in complicated terms it bars discrimina-

Voting Provisions

The new voting provisions and the decisration of rights are made specially entrenched parts of the constitution. Amendment would require not only the present two-thirds majority in each house but a majority of the Africans and the whites, taken separately, in the lower house.

Two Soviet scientific experts who defected to the West disclosed that Soviet space technology lagged far behind that of the United States and had produced much less scientific data.

(Reuters).-President Nixon called today for a court injunction to send 45,000 striking longshoremen back to work at East and Gulf Coast ports.

The President said that the strike, if permitted to continue, would imperial the health and safety of the United States.

He crdered Attorney General John N. Mitchell to seek the in-junction under the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act. An injunction would force the striking longshoremen to return to work for an 89-day cooling-off period while federal mediators tried to settle the contract dispute.

The President acted after receiving a report from a four-man board of inquiry, which said that there was little chance of a prompt settlement in the contract dispute on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, which is now in its 56th

The delay was a blow to the Nixon administration, which has sought prompt action, particularly on the $1,5-million desegregation aid bill. The postponement was a disappointment also to colleges and school systems anxious to get federal funds. The Senate-House conference, once convened, is expected to produce lengthy bargaining over a number of major differences. Thus yesterday's Senate postponement cast deeper doubt on prospects for passing a supplemental desegregation money bill in the current school year. Senate sources, anticipating yesterday's deferral announcement by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D., Mont., blamed it on Southern lawmakers' insistence on full debate for their dozen antidesegregation amendments. The Senate leadership hopes to adjourn for the year by Dec. 4. With floor action delayed, the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee is expected to combine the two major bills into one package that will include a set of Indian-education provisions. The House early this month passed its versions of the highereducation and school-desegregation bills as a single, omnibus measure including anti-busing smendments which are among those sought by the Senate Southerners.

The Senate committee's aim in nerging the school-desegregation bill passed in April with the $19-billion higher-education bill approved in August is to equip Senate conferees for bargaining with the one-bill House conferees.

Cubans Give 2 Floridians 4-Year Terms

By Terry Shaw WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (WP)

-Two men from Florida who landed their light plane at a Cuban airfield without permission have been sentenced to four years' imprisonment, it was reported yesterday. State Department sources identified the Florida men as Steve Ruth of Venice and Russell Lease of Siesta Key. Mr. Ruth, in his early 20s, is a student, and Mr. Lease, in his 40s, works for a vending machine company, the sources said.

The two landed in Camaguey Province on June 26 in a fourseat Beechcraft. They first told the Cuban authorities that they had been forced to land by an unidentified bljacker who disappeared into the countryside.

It is understood that the two later changed their story, telling the Cubans that they had lost their way while en route to Jamaica. At their trial, Mr. Lease and Mr. Ruth said they had landed because they were lost and not sure if they had enough fuel to get to Jamaica, Swiss Embassy, officials told the State Department. Switzerland, which represents U. S. interests in Cuba: was in touch with the two men late Mahatma Gandhi once said. "No cause. however just, can warrant the indiscriminate slaughter that is going on . . . "

A few years ago one of the Mahatma's political hers-but no kin-Prime Minister Indira Gandhi told the United Nations Generai Assembly: "In India we have been powerfully conditioned by Mahatma Gandhi. We believe that the evolution of individuals and societies depends on the extent to which they exercise self-restraint and abjure the use of force."

On another occasion, commenting on the agreement at Tashkent that ended the India-Pakistan conflict of 1965, Mrs. Gandhi said: "The success of the Tashkent Declaration consists in the fact that both countries have now agreed not to have recourse to force and to settle their disputes through peaceful means. This has been done by a categorical reaffirmation in the declaration of the obligations under the charter of the . United Nations to retrain from the use of force in settling international disputes."

Despite devious denials that would have shocked and saddened India's Apostle of Truth, it is clear that Mrs. Gandhi has at last turned her back on the Mahatma and on India's solemn international commitments. Reports from the Indian border, reinforced by Delhi's tardy admission that Indian soldiers have been authorized to cross into East Pakistan in "self-defense," leave no room for doubt that India today is resorting to force in an attempt to settle the latest dispute with its neighbor.

· Admittedly, India is reacting to provocations that most other nations long ago would have found intolerable. The Yahya govern-

The international community-and most conspicuously the U.S. government-has been slow to recognize the extreme dangers of this situation, let alone to take steps to meet them. The United Nations has studiously side-stepped the central issue of Pakistani repression despite repeated warnings from the secretary-general, U Thant.

But the Indians share responsibility for the UN's appalling paralysis. While loudly and justly-complaining of injuries to India from Islamabad's actions, New Delhi has strenuously resisted any United Nations intervention on the grounds that the problem was strictly domestic, confined to Pakistan. India's current actions effectively shatter that excuse for the inaction of the United

The Security Council now has to meet this issue head on. To be effective, the council must deal not only with the breach of peace created by India's actions but also with the prior violations of human rights in East Pakistan that precipitated the present perilous conficit.

India in turn has the responsibility of honoring its international obligations and domestic traditions. Indian parliamentarians cheering their prime minister's heady claims of victories would do well to recall the warnings of their other Gandhi. "We have been deceived," the Mahatma observed, "by the temporary but brilliant results achieved by some wars."

The Fishing War Resumes

American tuna boats so far this month signals the early resumption and possible escalation of an annual fishing war off the South American coast that the United States appears to be losing.

Ecuador and eight other Latin American nations claim a 200-mile territorial-waters limit which the United States and many other nations refuse to recognize-not without good reason. If all maritime nations made such claims, some 40 percent of the world's oceans could be closed to traditional freedom of the seas, A universal 200-mile limit for fishing would cover all but about 10 to 20 percent of the world's fishing grounds. ... The United States government has advised boats which fish in the disputed waters not to pay the fees that Ecuador and like-minded nations demand. Washington does not attempt physically to protect American Ilsuei men if they so challenge the arbitrary extension of territorial seas. But it has followed a practice, set forth by Congress, of reimbursing skippers for the heavy fines imposed by the government of Ecuador and

This is a costly and futile policy. Payment of the fines over a period of years can only

Seizure by Ecuador of almost a score of serve to solidify the claims they are designed to enforce. It would be equally futile-and rash—to attempt to impose the American view of international fishing rights by force, especially in light of the current ambiguity of the laws of the sea and of the American position on ocean rights.

The move to extend the fishery claims of coastal states derived in the first instance from the United States' own arbitrary claim, advanced in the Truman administration, to the resources of the continental shelf which extends roughly 200 miles from American shores. As the foreign minister of Iceland has observed, "It is manifestly flogical to allow coastal states to utilize the natural resources of the continental shelf but not the natural resources of the super-adjacent waters."

In order to prevent the broader threat to freedom of the seas, which is implicit and controls being staked out by some Latin and other nations, the United States is going to have to acknowledge some fishing claims comparable to its own claims over the bottom resources of the shelf. U.S. proposals submitted last summer at a preparatory meeting for a 1973 Law of the Sea Conference indicate belated progress toward a more flexible policy on this vexatious issue.

After months of brave restraint and good deeds, India now seems to be forsaking the paths of peace. It is a bad, sad decision. Though the exact nature and esquence of events on Bangla Desh'e battered borders remain uncertain, no impartial observer thinks the ragged Mukti Bahini guerrillas capable of full frontal aggression against regular Pakistani troops—still less aggression using jets and tanks.

Brushing aside propaganda semantics. India appears bent on serious military provocation—the kind of moddled, limited action which might make President Yahva lash back and thereby bring major war without incurring direct blame on India itself. If Mrs. Gandhi's pacific proclamations mean anything, she should now initiate negotiations, facilitate a UN presence between the two armies and encourage internationalization of the issue.

"reform" of the SDECE has been under way for some time . . . Now, the reform undertaken by Mr. de Marenches really appears oriented toward a reopening of the SDECE to our former NATO partners . . . One would get rid of some "undesirable" elements and, by the same token, please American secret services by "giving" them the "bad" agents. These are only assumptions, but one is led to make many assumptions when one eees the attitudes of Col. Barberot who, while calling himself a leftist, is nonatheless a Gaullist . . . Col. Beaumont, whom Col. Barberot attacks, for example, passes for the man who steadfastly defended the secrets of the Concorde jetliner against American agents . . . A primordial question arises: why has this period been chosen (eight months after Delouette's arrest) to explode this fine mixture? And what political operation does all this conceal, besides the SDECE purge? -From l'Humanité (Paris).

Everything is bizarre in this affair. Blows come from everywhere. Cliques are fighting each another. No one is spared. What is coming, now that act two begins, is a formidable settlement of old scores in Shakespeare's fashion, an infernal caldron in which resentments, grudges, ambitions and blackmail are simmering. Such an explosive mixture is likely to spare no one.

PARIS.—The world has been baving a field day with the real life thriller story of plots, coonterplots, drugs, contraband and other James Bond divertissements epparently unfolding as a consequence of the arrest in New Jersey of a minor French espionage official charged with dope smuggling.

The verbal fallout from this event has become absorbing read-ing matter although much is without foundation. Thus it is not apparently in any sense true that there is a clash between the American Central Intelligence Agency and its French counterpart, the Service of Exterior Documentation and Counter-Espionage nor that SDECE is being riven by internal purges.

Dope and espionage were certainly involved in the arrest last April of a former SDECE agent named Roger Delouette. Delo was calling for an imported car loaded with 96 pounds of heroin. He claimed to be acting under instructions from an SDECE of-

"Topaz," an Amerlcan novel. was based on charges of an SDECE sgent in Washington that high French government officials were leaking information to Russia.

SDECE is a postwar organization of mixed antecedents. These included De Gaulle's emigré intelligence organization in wartime London, a similar structura in North Africa, parts of the old Petainist Second Bureau, and resistance groups inside occupied

In French eyes, Marenches, a huge man, is the typical pro-"Anglo-Saxon." His wife is British, his mother was American, his father served as liaison officer on General Pershing's staff. He speaks perfect English. Nevertheless, there is every evidence that he is a loyal French patriot of the same type as his predecessor and there is no question of pro or anti-Americanism involved

Rumors

Thus there is little truth in tales now circulating here about "settling old scores" between pro-Soviet and pro-American cliques or doing away with netarious double agents. Such rumors have been spread by persons at one or another time associated with SDECE, who have gotten into a publicity contest and the French opposition is trying to embarrass the regime.

Nevertheless, since the student uprisings of 1958 after which relations with America perceptibly improved, Paris and Washington have had excellent working relutions even on the secret service level. Furthermore the French are just as concerned with the drug problem as Americans are.

The present furtre is a tempest in an opium pot. Once justice has taken its course, it will blow over. No deeper political im-plications are involved despite the best afforts of tale-spinners.

State -- etaries Michael Kohl of East Berlin and Egon Bahr of Bonn conferred yesterday and last night for 15 hours, Mr. Rohl flew to East Berlin today at 5:30 am for new instructions and re-turned at noon, Then he and Mr. Bohr met for another three hours. They are scheduled to meet here again tomorrow.

Concurrently Uhrich Mueller of the West Berlin city government and Guenther Kohrt of East Berlin negotiated at length yesterday and today in the divided city on their part of the Berlin pact details. They are scheduled to meet again Monday.

The German negotiators hava found their assignment to be of appalling complexity. Each of the two groups has met more than 20 times since the ambassadors of the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France signed the agreement on Sept. 3.

For Mr. Kohl and Mr. Bahr the problems have included details of customs procedures, for which each side has a 1,000-page book of regulations. But there have also been knotty questions of agreement on sealing shipments, jointly stipulating when the transit routes to and from West Berlin are being misused, collection of visa fees and control procedures. Their concern is the improvement of Western civilian traffic across East Germany between West Berlin and West Ger-

For Mr. Mueller and Mr. Kohrt the main problem has been reaching agreement on regulating visits of almost two million West Berliners to East Germany and East Berlin, where they have been barred since the spring of 1965 The East Berlin government has shown rejuctance to liberalize visiting privileges for the West

SALT Session Lasts 2 Hours

VIENNA, Nov. 25 (Reuters) .--Soviet and American negotiators at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks here continued their exchanges today with a session of slightly more than two hours.

The entire session was devoted to formal exchanges without the two sides breaking up into small informal groups.

Although the substance of the arms meeting is kept secret the concentration on long formal exchanges, with the reading of documents, suggested to some observers here that Washington and Moscow were now playing a more direct hand in the Vienna negotiations.

Col. Henderson Is Challenged About First My Lai Reports

عِلَدُ اصد الأصل

By Peter Braestrup

FORT MEADE, MD., Nov. 25 allegations of U.S. misconduct et (WP) .- Maj. Carroll J. Tichenor, the Army prosecutor, sought to show yesterday that Col. Oran K. Henderson knew within 48 hours that far more than the official total of 20 Vietnamese civilians had been slain at My Lai on March 16, 1968.

Col. Henderson maintained, however, that he had no indication of "excessive killing" at My Lai by his 11th Brigade troops until after an Army investigation began in 1969.

Col. Henderson, a highly decorated, 51-year-old combat veteran, has been on trial here since Aug. 23 on charges of failing to properly investigate and of covering up the My Lai massacre. Yesterday was his second day on the witness stand.

The colonel said that as he flew over My Lai during the early morning sweep by Capt, Ernest L. Medina's troops he saw fewer than a dozen Vietnamese bodies, including a "family group" on the hamlet's outskirts.

Early that afternoon, he said, be ordered Capt. Medina, who is now a civilian, to resweep My Lai, not because he suspected a massacre, but because of an "imprecise" carly report that "10 to 14" civilians had been inadvertently slain by U.S. artillery and Col. Henderson said that ne wanted Capt. Medina's company to obtain a "more precise body count" of dead civilians and to "locate any additional fenemy!" at My Lai.

General's Counterorder

The resweep order was later countermanded-in Col. Henderson's absence—for tactical reasons by Maj. Gen. Samnel W. Koster, then the Americal Division com-

According to these accounts, Mr. Thompson variously describ-ed "bodies all over the anea," "soldiers firing into groups" of civilians, "many dead." Col. Hen-derson said he considered the final officially reported civilian toll of 20 as "many dead." "Isn't it true that what IMr.

Ballet in N.Y. Magnificent Dancers of Béjart Troupe

By Clive Barnes NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (NYT).-Maurice Bejart's Ballet of the 20th Century, which is Belgium's leading classic ballet company, returned to New York last night to open a brief season at the New York City Center. It is a company with two magnificent dancers, quite a number of very good dancers, a great deal of tiresomely repetitious choreography, and recorded sound tracks.

The quality of the sound is moderately good, but this is the first time in my experience that the City Center Theater has permitted recorded sound for a classic ballet company, and at the prices they are charging it is departure much to be deplored. I doubt whether the musicians' union would permit an American company to get away with this.

The company gave the entire performance over to Stravinsky works, all in versions by Bejart "Renard" was having its New York premiere, but the other two, "Firebird" and "Le Sacre du Printemps," had both been seen in Brooklyn last season.

"Renard" is just a curtainraiser, and the curtain was raised. As is Bejart's custom, ha does not achere to the original libretto, which in the case of "Renard" is probably advantaperformances were all good, and I liked the feline sexiness of Jaleh Kerendi as The Fox. and Victor Ullate's properly forceful conceit as The Cock in the sad dilemma of not being able to decide whether to be Groucho of Charlie Chaplin. The other two men, Jan Nuyts and Gerard Wilk, danced with the relentless pressure and accent so much favored by the company's style.

It is, however, a very attractive company to watch—they look happy, healthy, vigorous and in the nicest way, animalist. This, I personally think, is their main charm, but some of the dancing is very good indeed, not especially polished by American or Russian standards, yet still broad, expanelve and assertive. It also is a company with a very marked company manner which gives a stylistic cohesiveness to all its

Its two outstanding dancersand they are both rare gems-are Paolo Bortoluzzi and Suzanne Farrell. Bortoluzzi was starring in "Firebird," in which in the Béjart version the lead is taken by g man, and Miss Farrell as the Chosen Virgin in "Le Sacre."

His line is exquisite, his technique impeccable and his enthusiasm and boyish manner seem to sdd an unexpected cial nuance to his essentially Apollonian dancing. Moreover, the size of the man-he is built like a well-shaped prize-fighter -provides another individual facet to his uniqueness.

Bortoluzzi is a perfect stylist.

Miss Farrell is a dancer in her way just as extraordinary. With her long slenderness of body that is like a pliant sapling, the con-sciously pony-tail hair, the care-ful look of innocent and wanton. ber whole eppearance is almost more of a symbol than, a dancer. But when she dances there is this great inner drive. Her limbs, so gentle-sceming, have a cougarspring to them, and ber absorption in her dancing has a special spirituality. Personally, I would love to see her hack with the New York City Ballet, but I can still only congramlate Béjart on his good sense and good fortune.

Neither ballet endears itself to me with repetition. Also, putting them back to back shows terribly how similar they are to one another choreographically, with the same relentless mixture of calisthenics. Lifaresqua classroom steps unimaginatively and unmusically used, and a few Oriental gestures. It is strange how little Béjart has developed from "Le Sacre" in 1959 to "Firebird" in 1971,

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI).— Country music is going back to the country-end it is going in land River east of Nashville, 370 acres of pasture and woodland are being transformed into Opryland, U.S.A., which promoters call The Rome of American Music." In addition to housing the Friday and Saturday-night performances of the Grand Ole Opry (which now take place in downtown Nashville), the Opryland complex will offer flashes of folk, gospel, Western and rock. "No effort is being wasted to give this area a warm, homespun appearance," said John Kretsch-mer, an Opryland official. "It's not going to be just a bunch of rides, although there is an amusement-park aspect to it."

American music history—country,

He said that the different kinds of American music will be themes for parts of the park, which will include rides, live musical performances and capsule histories

"For instance," Mr. Kretschmer said, "there'll he a riverside area, showing how jazz, rhythm and hlues fit into the music picture of America. Then there's a Western area where the influence of the old ballads and the Spanish guitar on America's music is shown. The idea is to give a cultural understanding of our usic, while having a good time."

Other areas will portray folk music from the Appalachian mountains and hills, traditional country music and the rock and pop music of today.

Nothing is to be animated, tinseled or covered with glitter because "American music is as real as the histers on a man's hand behind a plow," as Mike Downs, general manager of Opryland, put it.

The wild animals will be live. Bricks, cedar shingles and whitewash are being used generously on all the buildings that are going up.

The park's security force will be old-time sheriffs, wearing 10gallon hats and riding horses. 'Animal Bavine

Wild animals native to the Tennessee woodlands will run free in an "animal ravine" designed by Jim Fowler of television'e "Wild Kingdom." The setting will be as natural as possible, he said.
"The people will be in the cages instead of the animals." Even the merry-go-round is no

Masterpieces Missing in Italy Put at 150-200

ROME, Nov. 25 (AP),-The number of art masterpieces stolen from Italy during or since World War II and as yet unrecovered by Italian authorities is estimated at 150 to 200.

The head of the government department for the recovery of the figure yesterday.

Mr. Siviero also said that the official figure for art works stolen in Italy each year was more than 2,000. But be said that they were mainly secondary works.

Mr. Siviero together with the mayor of Florence, Lociano Bausi, outlined the program of an international conference to be beld in Florence Saturday and Sunday for the defense and recovery of works of art.

The conference, Mr. Bausi said, will try to determine the basis for an international charter to recuperate but also protect works of art in all countries.

5th-Century Ruins Found in Tbilisi

MOSCOW. Nov. 25 (UPI).— The ruins of a frescoed church and other buildings doting to the fifth century have been uncovered in Tbilisi, capital of Soviet Georgia, Tass news agency said

The ruins were found during excavation of Narikala Fortress. Also found were spears, swords and cannouballs. Archaeologist Otar Tkesbelashvili said that the excavations may reveal ruins of a czar's palace in Narikala,

Entertainment in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (IRT) - looks like a Michelangelo God This is how The New York somehow fallen to earth, is a life Times critics rate new movies:

"King Lear," directed by Peter Brook from his own screenplay, is "2 King Lear of splendor and shock," Vincent Canby comments. Mr. Brook's screen adaptation -filmed in a kind of primeval hlack and white-is set in a time and place where the aun seems to be receding not because of any seasonal course but because the entire universe is moving toward an exhausted end, 'King Lear' is, I think, Brook at his manic best. It triumphantly ignores both romantic and naturalistic traditions to achieve something akin to the so-called new theater in film terms. What is most remarkable to me is that the director bas been able to get so much of the beautiful text on the screen, so purely, through techniques that usually either overwhelm the language or make it preposterously theatrical." According to Canby. "No one, perhaps, but Paul Scofield could withstand the camera's close scrutiny so effectively. His Lear, who

force at the end of his rope."

"America/Amerika," a program of short films at the Whitney Museum, is "as much about the quality of American filmmakers' social criticism as about the contents of the criticism itself," says Vincent Canby. "Although it is an 'excellent' program, 'America/ Amerika' is pretty much limited to views that are either liberal or radical-which makes me wonder if someone, somewhere, isn't attempting social criticismon-film that might pass for conservative." The films purport to examine the quality of American. life in Sun City, Detroit, Wilmington, New York's Lower East Side. and in a kitchen, never geographically identified. WSM moved the Opry there in 1941. Previous homes for the ehow have included a public auditorium and a sawdust-floored East Nashville church. The first broadcasts originated in WSM's studios in 1925. But the Opry House is old, has no sir-conditioning. The hard wooden church pews do not seem to be as popular with today's country music fans as they used to be. Urban renewal is also threatening the Opry House.

So, the main feature of Opryland, opening April 29, 1972, will be a 4,500-seat auditorium, especially built for radio and television broadcasts. It will be the largest TV studio in the country.

Art in Italy_

Antonio Ligabue, Etchings, Romanian Primitives, Grifo, 131 Ripetta, Rome, until Nov. 30. Ligabue was one of the most enigmatic and genuine Italian painters of recent years. The etchings on view Lere are of his favorite subjects and done with fervor, strong etrokes thrown down with quick precision. The hunted deer, copulating horses and forthright selfportraits are of moving immediacy. Ligabue was self-taught but he was never a primitive. Unfortunately, he is here once again grouped with primi-tive art, quaint oils by Roman-

Verna paints luminous, polished abstractions. One vibrating color-orange, purple or blazing white-is brushed to the furthest edge of a square, and there a contrasting color sparks out, like a line of sunlight around a door at noon. His canvases are often divided into fields which are delicately off kilter, Marginal marks and fine-line splits run over and around the surfaces as scarcely perceptible tensions. Bal-ance is achieved by off balance. Verna's is the kind of refinement current in Rome and hovers just this side of neatness; But his apparent order is more intuitive than intellectual; it is graceful. His smaller pastels, where color on glowing color builds up to translacent surfaces, are particularly attractive.

Korompay, Trinita, 50 Gregoriana, Rome, until Dec. 6.

Korompay, once a futurist, now paints quiet, abstract compositerranean whites, grays and sudden windowe on black, refer snotly to landscapes. A set of ten etchings is clean and fine.

Leslie Abrahams, Margie Glass, Ondina, 111 Via Giulia, Rome, until Nov. 30,

These two young American women paint lively oils which overflow with home life, babies, toys, pets. against glimpses of Roman houses. The work has charm and is pleasantly illustrative although the color is et times too sweet. Small etchings by Abrahams, who studied with Maccari, are alive with dainty fragments.

Werner Tuebke, Pante di Spade. 254 Ripetta, Rome, until

Nov. 30. A contemporary German has swallowed art history and spews it forth again in allegories: Bosch, Grünewald, Rubens, And there are similarities to the American 30s ashcan painters, to Reginald Marsh and to Peter Blume. The sponsorship of these paintings, despite some sly, socially con-scious references, by the East German government seems strange: the works are no improvement over the Reichs Schamhaarmaler (Reich Pubic Hair Painters), as the Nazi realists were nicknamed. The tireless, plodding, encyclopedic mind, indiscriminate overloading, the vulgarity in these beerhall fantasies are so hilarious that Remo Remoti, Studio Off, 85 Babuino, Rome, until Nov. 30.

This well-known Roman sculptor is making a jolly protest by putting frames over pictures he has painted on walls or almost covering them up with hank canvases and writing next to each the word invendibile (unsalable).

Trobanakis, Schneider, Rampa Mignanelli, Rome, until Dec. 11. Tzobanakiis, a young Cretan, makes his debut with complex. near-cubist studies of figure movement in space. The use of cement within wire is interesting. The most recent silvered bronzes are harmonious and varied in shape.

U.K. Judge Bars Issuance of Book By Solzhenitsyn

LONDON; Nov. 25 (Reuters).— A Eigh Court judge here today temporarily banned publication of an English translation of 'August 14." the latest novel by Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn.
- Book publisher Bodley Head, which claims exclusive rights to publish an English translation of the novel, was granted a temporary order forbidding Alec Flegon from publishing his own English translation.

Bodley Head claims that if has an agreement with a West Ger-man publishing house, licensed by Mr. Solzhenitsyn's Swiss agent. to produce an English translation and sell serial and paperback rights but not to publish it before August of next year. Mr. Flegon, Bodley Head said, had intended to publish his ver-

Sometimes this cost a fortune (we ripped out the insides of all our 707's and renewed everything from the floor up).

Sometimes this cost a little more trouble (offering a choice of three meals in economy rather than no choice).

And sometimes it cost nothing but a little thought (no-smoking sections, for example).

Next time you fly to America, ask your travel agent to book you a TWA Ambassador flight.

On a 707 or 747.

If it isn't considerably better than the service other airlines offer you, fly

German Insurers Increasing Capital

By John M. Pearce BERLIN (THT).—Despite a disappointing business year in 1970, Germany's insurance companies are beginning to increase their capital to meet the challenges of the European Economic Community. Under the EEC agreements, the member nations must bring their insurance regulations into line against the day when their companies will operate throughout Europe rather than only in their own countries.

After the Common Market ne-302 45,350 gotiations in Brussels are completed, a spokesman for the Economics Ministry in Bonn said. the government plans major changes in its insurance law, covering both licensing and methods of operation.

> No matter what form the final agreement takes, it will be a radical change for administration of insurance in Germany, which now has only legislation giving the Federal Insurance Supervisory Office in Berlin the power to set virtually all regulations. In the future, parliament will say more specifically what it wants, considerably lessening the supervisory office's discretion.

In addition, the minimum capital needed will be set in the EEC negotiations, and some companies will have to increase theirs. Most Are Ready Others have already begun, and even though the figures are not yet specific, the Economics Ministry estimates that 80 to 90 percent of German companies already have enough capital. The entire process is expected to take another five years.

The insurance industry in Germany has expanded rapidly in the last six years—from premium income of 16 billion deutsche marks in 1965 to a projected 30.1 billion this year.

At the same time, however, almost every insurer except the life companies suffered in 1970. Damage and accident companies alone reported losses of 1 billion to 1.5 billion marks. It was, according to the companies' national trade association, Gesamtverband der Versicherungswirtschaft, their worst year in more than two decades. On the other hand, the association reported, the life companies flourished "because of the alert interest of employees in building their estates through life insurfrancs ($1,083,000) for a single item of jewelry—a necklace of diamonds and emeralds weighing ance." The 30-billion-mark income expected by the companies reprea total of 83.68 carats. #### Bayer Profit Drops 25.8%; Ouarter Dividend Cut Is Inevitable

LEVERKUSEN, West Germany, Nov. 25 (AP-DJ).—Farbenfabr.ken Bayer profits plunged 25.8 percent in the first nine months this year and an expected decline for the full year will make a dividend cut inevitable, Kurt Hancon, chairman, reported today,

Nine-month profits were 181 melion deutsche marks, down from 344 million DM in the same period last year, Mr. Honsen said, Indicated earnings for the third quarter were 61 million DM. down from 63 million DM a year

Group sales for the nine months were 7.56 billion DM, up 5.6 per-cent from 7.16 billion a year ago. Parent company sales were 4.68 billion DM, up 1.1 percent from 4.63 billion DM.

Mr. Hansen, speaking at a press conference, declined to estimate the size of the dividend cut. In 1970, Bayer paid out 8 DM per

In reference to the economic situation, Mr. Hansen said that Bayer will have to take sales losses of 100 million to 120 million DM in 1971 because of the floating of the DM, niter a loss of about 160 million marks in 1970 due to the revaluation in October

The full impact of the floating will hit Bayer in 1972, Mr. Hansen

Mannesmann Profit Hit DUSSELDORF, Nov. 25 (AP-DJ) -- Mannesmann AG said today its earnings situation is being "negatively influenced" by continued cost increases.

Declining capital spending in industry, pressure from competitive imports, especially after the floating of the DM, "and the protectionist measures in the United States" were also cited as negative influences on carn-

In a shareholders letter, Mannessmann reported consolidated sales of 5,335 hillion DM, in the first nine months of 1971, up 1 percent from 5.281 billion a year

Nine-month profit was not stated, nor did the company project its 1971 earnings, For 1970. it reported consolidated profit of 1489 million marks.

Egon Overbreck, chairman, said the downtrend of West Germany's economy is accelerating while the DM revaluation rate "had exceeded bearable limits." on exports.

Degussa to Cut Dividend

FRANKFURT, Nov. 25 (AP-DJ).—Degussa profit in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30 was lower than in the preceding year, when the fine-metals and chemical company reported pre-tax profit of 104 million DM and aftertax profit of 47 million DM; Degussa announced today.

"A reduction of the dividend must be expected," said the firm, which paid an unchanged 10 DM per 50 DM share for its 1969-1970 fiscal period.

Consolidated group sales declined 2 percent to 2,359 billion marks from 2.407 billion marks.

While not stating actual profit, Degussa said cost increases exceeding the productivity growth could not be balanced through higher prices and economy measures because of sharper domestic and foreign competi-

Due to the international monetary crisis and the uncertain economic cituation, Degusso said, it is difficult to project business for the months ohead.

In view of this, the company's supervisory board agreed to curtall the capital spending program for the current fiscal year. Streamlining and conomy measures will be intensified, and staff will be reduced, Degussn said.

BatW Sees Lower Net MUNICH, Nov. 25 (Reulers).— Bayerische Motoren Werke (BMW) is warning that its net profit this year will fall below the 342 million DM carned in 1970 but gave no indication as to the extent of the expected

In a letter to shareholders, the company also faile! to indicate wbother it will cut its dividend from the 12 percent paid last

The company said that earnings this year have been of-fected by the ternational monetary situation and higher interest rate and repreciation charges, In addition, the price increases announced earlier this year have only in part compensated for higher personnel and raw material costs.

Turnover (excluding valueadded taxy rose in the first nine months of the current year by 15.3 percent to 1.37 billion DM from 1,19 billion in the same

The number of cars sold rose 9.8 percent to 121,300 in the first nine months from 110,500 in tha same 1970 period, Over the same time personnel costs increased 14.6 percent to 328 million DM from 286 million.

Bayer also announced today plans to expand its Belgian subsidiary in Antwerp into a major chemical complex at a cost of about 620 million DM.

As a first step, Bayer will erect z 130 million DM plant to make chemicals for synthetic rubber

The plant will be built on the left bank of the Scheldt River opposite the existing right-bank Bayer plants, the company said, Currently, Bayer has a major sulphuric acid installation at Antwerp, where it also makes basic chemicals for fibers,

Long Fight Seen In Allied Bid for U.K. Hotel Group

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP-DJ) .-A long drawn-out fight for control of Trust Houses Porte (THF) could develop following the takeover bid Tuesday from Allied Breweries, stock market sources said today. They noted that N. M. Rothschild & Sons, financial advisers to Allied, has bought over $15,-000 THF shares in the open market, representing 1 percent of total equity. Sources said Rothschild will continue to buy, but not so heav-fly that the price goes above its offer of 165 pence a sizare—a price which THF regards as in-

The bld situation was complicated by the removal yester-day of Lord Crowther as chairman of THF and his replacement with Lord Thorneycroft by a rival faction led by Sir Charles Forte, deputy THF chairman.

Today, J. Henry Schroder Wagy & Co. said it had withdrawn as THIP's financial adviser, Sources said the bank withdrew because of its close ties with the Trust Houses side of the company. The split into rival Forts-Trust Houses factions within the com-pany was recently brought to a head by Lord Crowther's public criticism of Sir Charles.

Summit Talks Overshadow G-10 Parley

Japanese View at Odds With Burns' Optimism

TOKYO, Nov. 25 (Reuters) .-The decision to hold Pranco-American summit talks in mid-December has reduced the importance of the Group of Ten finance ministers' meeting in Rome next week, official Japanese sources said today.

Commenting on the announcement that President Nixon and French President Georges Pompldou would meet in the Azores on Dec. 13 and 14, they said the two leaders would probably discuss currency problems as well as political and diplomatic ques-

In these eircumstances, the source: caid, they fear the Group of Ten conference next week could only prepare a plan that might be executed in the event of a Franco-American compromise.

The sources said Japan has indicated its readiness to make its due contribution to multilateral currency realignment by revalu-ing the yen substantially. They denied, however, that Japan had actually agreed to a 15 percent revaluation or otherwise mentioned an exact per-centage. So far, all that has been said is that Jupan would be willing to revalue the yen by more than 12.5 percent.

Local banking sources took this to mean that Japan would be ready for a 15 percent revaluation with n 3 percent fluctuathe new rate, the sources added.

Burns Expects Progress WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (NYT).—Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said yesterday President Nixon "expects definite progress to be made" at the meeting in Rome next week of the Group of 10 leading industrial nations, which will be tackling the problem of world monetary uncertainty.

EEC Unit Proposes Grain Stockpiling

BRUSSELS, Nov. 25 (AP-DJ),has proposed that the EEC begin a policy of stockpiling grains as a gesture to meet U.S., complaints about its agricultural policy and as a step to stabilize world markets in these commodities, Benia-mino Olivi, the commission's spokesman, said today.

Mr. Olivi said the commission sent a note to the EEC council of ministers proposing multilateral negotiations with major grain producers on a coordinated stockpiling policy to take effect in the 1972-1973 crop year.

However, Mr. Olivi said, the commission said the Six should make the gesture of beginning to stockpile wheat in the current crop year. The amount of stock-plling should take into account the current volume of exports and possibly an increase of food aid, Washington has urged stockprice sales of EEC grains in markets where the Six and the United State compete.

Mr. Olivi noted that other grain-producing countries, notably the United States, Canada and Australia, already stockpile grains, mostly for commercial reasons. He said the EEC could not begin stockpiling nuless other countries took the same stand.

This is why multilateral talks are necessary, he said. Never-theless, the Six should make the gesture of beginning to stockpile wheat, the main surplus grain at the present in the current crop

Observers believe that the stockpiling proposal was being made to influence favorably the Group of Ten talks.

The commission today estimated EEC wheat exports in the current crop year at 53 million metric tons, up sharply from 3.5 million tons a year earlier. This reflected the record 30.2 million ton harvest this year, compared with 26.5 million tons in 1970.

Nigeria Plans Vintage 1972 Wine By Distilling Cocoa Bean Juice

LAGOS, Nigeria, Nov. 25 (AP).—Connoisseurs will acon be able to sample the bouquet of a new delight-cocoa wine win-Nigerla's southeastern state government plans to set up a $280,000 distillery to produce the wine from cocoa beans, State Industry Ministry officials announced today. Officials say the distillery should be in production by next August or September. It is expected to boost revenue from cocoa at a time when world prices have been dipping. Nigeria is the world's second largest cocoa producer after Ghana.

A ton of cocos processed in the distillery could yield about 14,000 gallons of wine, officials figure, or 84,000 bottles selling 75 cents each one ton of cocoa beans.

Officials said research had also shown that floor tiles, carpets and celling boards could be manufactured from cocoa pods, which until now have been thrown away as waste.

Sales of Cars Keep Up High Pace in U.S.

Phase-1 Price Freeze Seen Boost to Demand

By Agis Salpukas

DETROIT, NOV. 25 (NYT) .-Sales of domestic cars continued at a record rate during the second 10-day period in November, running about 5.4 percent ahead of the previous record Nov. 11-20 period set in 1965.

The big four, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors, sold 34.145 cars a day during the nine-day selling period compared to the previous record of 32,395 set in 1965.

The first 10 days of November were also a record and during October the industry sold over one million cars, a new high for any one-month period.

Auto executives have attributed the sales boom to the lower car prices during Phase 1, the CXpectation that the 7 percent excise tax on cars would be repealed and a stored up consumer demand created by last year's GM strike and poor car sales in 1970. M. S. McLaughlin, vice-president of the sales group for Ford, said yesterday that "the automotive market is maintaining a strong pace. Industry passenger car sales have been running at record levels since the mid-August announcement of the government's Phase I economic policies." Ford sales for the 10-day period were 7.5 percent higher than last year, Chrysler's were 7.9 percent higher and American Motors were 22 percent higher. GM sold about five times more cars this year than last year, when it was shut down by a 10week strike.

South reached a good contract of six clubs thanks to a "splint-er" bid by his partner. Once South had shown strength by his rebid of three clubs, the jump to four diamonds showed a club fit, slam ambitions, and not more than a singleton dismond.

South would have liked to use Blackwood to find out about aces, but a response of five diamonds, showing one ace, would have taken him past five clubs. He therefore made a cue-bid of four spades and his partner bid the East's double was based partly on his high cards, partly on the desirability of suggesting a lead in dummy's heart suit, and partly on the feeling that a bad trump division would hurt the declarer. West led the heart four, showing that he belonged to the school that leads the smallest of three worthless cards. South won with the ace in dummy, resisting the temptation to finesse, and led the singleton diamond. East put up the ace and for reasons best known to himself returned a small heart.

South could have discarded with reasonable safety, but he was now slightly confused about the location of the heart king. He ruffed in his hand, and dis-carded a spade from dummy on the diamond king.

The lead of the last trump from dummy squeezed East. He parted with the spade seven to preserve his heart winner. South finessed the spade queen, and spade four made the last

As far as I knew, he didn't work, this Dick, and I wondered why he got up so early in the morning. Perhaps he didn't mind getting up because there was no job waiting for him to buckle down to, or maybe he went back to sleep after he fin-taked chucking over The Times. Whatever his reasons, I know I both envied and resented his freedom. I would have liked to have leisure and the detachment to chuckie over The Times too— the news wasn't as bad in those days but I had to hustle off to work. This is how I feel about Richard Brautigan's stories. In fact, what Eve just written sounds like a Brautigan story, right down to the inexplicable coincidence of both characters being named Richard.

Brantigen sounds like a releved observer with all the time in the world to muse over the curious little turns life takes. Overheard remarks, incongruous occurrences sense impressions, the shapes of buildings or the look of people, the color of the weather—all this mixed in with memories, girls, places, jottings in a notebook, made by a man with nothing pressing on him, no compulsion to put it all in perspective, interpret it drive it to the wall and ask, "What does it mean?"

Hold the Trimmings!

WASHINGTON. — Millons of Americans yesterday ate turkey with all the trimmings and did not even bother to Wonder why. This is the trouble with Thanksgiving. Americans have forgotten and history that have made it what it is. Turkey with all the trimmings, in fact, was first eaten at the White House on Flianksgiving Day. 1851. During the 18403 Americans the ancient Scandinavian custom of gathering the entire family around the hearth on Thanksgiving Eve to sing folk songs and tell mildly ribald stories while trimming the turkey.

Baker

Afterwards, the turkey would he left up for a week, or 10 days, nr until it became a fire hazard. President Millard Fillmore dislikel the custom. He was extremely finicky about keeping the White House nest, and he hated the way grease and giblets splattered the floor on the East Room when the holiday dancing shook the festive turkey.

He wanted to abolish the trimmed turkey, but his political advisers reminded him of what would happen later when Franklin Roosevelt changed the date of Thanksgiving and told him it would be political suicide in tinker with the traditions of the nation's favorite November holiday.

And so, with his great understanding of American psychology and tire nature of printing, President Fillmore, just hefere dawn nn Thanksgiving Day, 1851, let the family cats into the East Room. The Associated Press wrote later, "President Fillmore's family cats today atc the turkey and all the trimminge," but a printer accidentally dropped the word "cats" when the news vent into the paper.

Naturally, when Americans heard what the President's family had done, it became the height of fashion.

Another tradition whose origin has been largely forgotten is the great Turkey Day classic. Nowadays the Turkey Day classic is always a football game. Yesterday, this being the age of total foctball, there was a spate of football games,

By Russell Baker Women can blame Charles Dickens for this Originally foctball planned to seize Christmes. When women heard of the plan the, asked Charles Dickens for belp. He wrote "A Christmas Carol," which was immediately declared the great Christmas classic, thereby leaving football "ir a third-and-fifteen situation on its own five-yard line," as Dickens noted in his lengthy and often smug correspondence with Howard Cosell.

The far-seeing Susan B. Anthony, realizing that football whold fight back to seize other holidays, asked Dickens to write another classic entitled "A Thanksciving Day Carol" Dickens refused. He said he still had to write "David Copperfield," "Bleak House" and "A Tale of Two Cities," and added that if he ever got those written he would like to get into the ring with Mr. Tulstoy some day and try to top 'War and Peace.'

Ultimately, as Susan Anthony had foreseen, Knute Rockne and Vince Lombardi planned the first great Turkey Day classic between two nf the greatest elevens—this was the Model T age of fcotball, remember—ever to clash in titanic collision and so furth. Desperately, Susan B. Anthony pleaded with Ernest Hemingway to give America a Thanksgiving Day classic, and even suggested the title-"Across the Turkey and into the Trimmings."

Hemingway declined. He said he was too busy training to get into the ring with Mr. Tolstoy. and that is why women all nver the continent had to carry the turkey to the television set vesterday.

Ironically, we now know from Tolstoy's recently published correspondence with Howard Cosell that the great Russsian novelist was hoping someone would ask him to write a great Turkey Day classic and was disappointed that no nne ever did so. "Even nn an American theme, where I would be giving away the home-field advantage," Tolstoy said. "I could knock out Hemingway inside of three chapters."

Let us, therefore, give thanks to Knute Rockne and Vince Lombardi, to Millard Fillmore's cats, to Dickens's heavy work schedule. Hemingway's ego and Susan B. Anthony's failure to call upon Tolstoy, for another typical Thanksgiving Day.

He Heats His House With Sunshine

By Omer Henry

WASHINGTON (WP).—Some years ago Harry E. Thomason a U.S. government patent attorney, decided he had paid enough heating bills for his home in

He had no money to waste and children to educate. Surely there was a way to make solar energy do the work of oil or coal. Perhaps solar heat could be trapped in running water, stored in an insulated tank. Then the stored heat could be distributed to the various rooms as needed. Obviously, he would need a heat trap. Mr. Thomason began to work on his projects on weekends, holidays and after

The heat trap that he devised consisted of a wood base on top of which he placed insulating material—a thickness of fiber glass. Above that he fastened corrugated aluminum, the top painted black so that it would absorb mnre heat. The final layer was ordinary window glass to intensify the

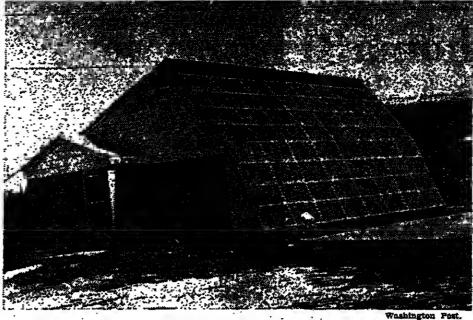

He set the trap up fecing the sun with the corrugations running downwards. Then he worked out a system to pump water to the top of the trap and let gravity pull it slowly down the corrugated valleys. The water could be circulated again and again as a means of increasing its temperature.

Storing

But trapping heat was not enough. It would have to be atored for extended periods of time-at night nr when clouds obscured the sun. So he devised a heat bin, the heart of which is a 1,600-gallon tank filled with sun-heated water and located in an insulated compartment in the basement. The 7-feet by 10-feet by 25-feet bin has concrete building blocks on its floor with horizontal openings in them—thus they serve as part of the distributing system.

Around the tank Mr. Thomason placed 50 tons of fist-sized stones. His logic was that the solar energy would heat the water for the tank and tha: the water would heat the atones-which would store additional heat. With this apparatus, Mr. Thomason reasoned that he could store vest quantities of solar heat to last for four or five consecutive cloudy days.

To release and distribute the heat, he set up a fan system to circulate a current of air through the openings in the concrete blocks, on through the irregular spaces about the stones and around the hot water

Large roof on sunward side of house serves as heating unit.

"To control the release of heat," Mr. Thomason explains, "we installed a thermostat which could be set at 72 degrees Fahrenheit, for example. This turned on the fan to blow air through the heat bin and register to warm the home."

In insure that he could always have heat when needed, Mr. Thomason installed a conventional nil furnace. "And," he says. "aince the time might come when we would have no heat at all from the sun, we chose a full-capacity furnace."

As a means of making his solar heating system practical, he added several features:

Air conditioning. If he could heat his house with solar energy, it seemed logical that he could cool it by reversing the process. His method was simple: Instead of running hot water into the 1,600-gallon tank, he would run cool water into it. Then with the fan system he could circulate cool air throughout the house,

· Domestic hot water. For this, Mr. Thomason installed a 275-gallon drum which contained a 42-gallon hot water tank. He planned to bathe the small tank in solar-heated water, thereby heating the water in the small tank. This he could utilize on a rear-round basis, · Swimming pool If, Mr. Thomason reasoned, he could heat the house with solar energy, he should also be able to use the same plant to heat water in his swimming pool. The necessary mechanical arrangements were relatively simple.

Since his heat collector was a new idea. he applied for a patent, and, as rapidly as he could, he put the whole system together. During the mild days of early fall, the house was amply heated. Then, one morning Mr. Thomason awoke to find 6 inches of snow on the ground and the temperature outside at near zero. Clearly this was the first real test of the system. Would it deliver the necessary heat?

It did. The temperature of the water going from the heat collector into the bin was 118 degrees Fahrenheit.

Problem .

He found that figure hard to accept. "You see," he explains, "the temperature hadn't been that high on the previous day when there had been no snow."

As he studied the situation, the answer became apparent, "I have concluded," he says, "that the sun's reflection on the snow sends added solar energy to the heat collector. This intensifies the heat on the heat, trap and brings the water to a higher temperature than is the case when there

In actual practice, Mr. Thomason's system works this way:

He keeps the daytime temperature in his home at 72 degrees Fahrenhelt night tem-perature at 68. And by Christmas of the first year of operation, Mr. Thomason had used only 20 cents worth of fuel oil. His heat bill for the entire year was exactly

The system cost about $2,500. There are some problems," Mr. Thomason says, "but they can be overcome. Even now, from an economic point of view, this plant will more than pay for itself." Since he completed his first solar heated house, he has built two more. All three are in Washington.

PEOPLE: A Pharmacist's $42.000 Mistake

A jury in Los Angeles has com-puted that it will take $42,000 to support little David Pearsen, now 6, to the age of 21 and assessed that amount against a drugstore that gave his mother sleeping pills instead of contraceptive pills. The award went to Albert W. Pearson, a plastering contractor, and his wife, Maxine. It was directed against Say-On-Drug

Co., operator of a pharmacy in Whittier, Calif., where Mrs. Pearson, 46, said the mistake was made on Oct. 28; 1964. She went there that day, she stified, to refill a prescription calling for Norlestrin, a birth-control pill, but did not discover until too late that she had been given phenobarbital. David was born on Sept. 18, 1965 At the time, the hu band and wife said, they already had three daughters and did not feel that their financial position would allow them to support a fourth

"We love little David," she told the jury. He is not unwanted but he is unplanned."

"This couple," John Mc-Nicholas, the drug company's lawyer, said, "Is in the position" of going to a jeweler for a $100 zircon and suing for fraud when they got a $1,000 diamond."

In Cairo, according to the United Press, when Mohammed Sidky returned from early morning prayers he found himself locked out of his home. His wife had stacked all the dining room furniture egainst the door because, she said, she was afraid of burglars. Sidky -believed her until he heard a noise in the bedroom and found a naked man in the cupboard, the wife's Sidky locked the cupboard, with the man still in it, and reported the matter to the police.

Movie producer Heward Minsky, 54, was flown to a hospital in Santa Monica, Calif., Wednesday after he fractured his shoulder on a shooting location near Durango, Mexico, Minsky, pro-ducer of "Love Story," suffered a double fracture of his right shoulder when he was thrown. from a horse.

From England, these pieces of incidental intelligence: a Southport lawyer, Ronald Lloyd, took a dim view of the public tollet being put up outside his offic and charged the town mayor with thority or excuse. The case w adjourned. And in London, Cor servative party Member of Par liament Philip Holland plans t press the government to end legal anomaly by which it is offense for a woman to accor a man, but quite legal for a ma to accest a woman.

Postal workers sorting his stacks of mail at Edkon Nationsed aside a brown paper by that was among the letters. Whe was stuffed with $21,000 in east Inside was this typewritten no (sic): 'Please delivery to Natos Stat Bank, Highland Park Ban Next time be more careful when they leave money box." The ficials could not explain whe the cash came from and the Ni tional State Bank branch Highland Fark said it was check ing to see if it was missing at mmey:

Representatives of Communi

China have refused an invitation to attend a display of Ph Pong Fashions in London because the garments include parterns of Chairman Man thoughts in Chinese, a she spokesman reported yesterds. The words were copied by to designers from photos of wi posters in Shanghai, slogans sa to include "Joy to the workers "Joy through work" and Units China for all time." We ex plained the designs but the were very upset, said the spokesman. They said the thought it was trivialization. Mao's thoughts. They took very dim view." Added design Pat Connelly: "You cannot please these Chinese people. The ought to have been very please." ed. It is good propagands. Nevertheless, admitted Connell: We copied the panels from wa ; slogans, so maybe we have it cluded some swear words

A modern Jesse James years old, has been apprehende by police in Cairo after score ni passengers from Alexandri arrived in the Egyptian capita with their baggage and porker rifled. The octogenarian finally admitted drugging - the rider before robbing them, by handing them sandwiches statistic water tranquillizers.
